I am keenly interested and well qualified for the position of IT Director at OPB.

I would be so very proud to have an opportunity to work with OPB. Upon seeing the position I have put everything on hold today to ensure that I prepare my application and cover letter.

I am currently living on the island of Saipan. This is an almost forgotten remote US outpost on the edge of the empire. The departure point for the Enola Gay. I have been here strengthening my skills and doing my best to modernize the equipment and improve the digital culture and demonstrate the power and capabilities of technology to all whom I meet. I consider myself a Digital Ambassador.

During my 5 years here we have endured 2 major typhoons which were cataclysmic events in all of our lives. Recovering from adversity humbles and gives one clarity. My personal leadership skills as well as my developing knowledge of young people growing up in the "new world media order" has prepared me for my next challenge.

Here at the school, my resignation will be effective in a few short weeks and I will be relocating back to Portland. In this cover letter, I cannot begin to tell you how much I would love to be part of the OPB team. I will say that I have an impeccable record and a tireless work ethic which can be corroborated by any of my previous employers/supervisors.

I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Thank You

Jonathon (JC) Clark
